Subject Re: Details of list updating and certification recommencement

Body

Dear Jonathan,

Further to Knut's assurances that the list of ISA-free zones and compartments would be updated not later than today and that certification would not recommence before such updating, would you please be so kind as to confirm:

- the exact address of website(s) where the amended list will appear; and
- the date on which certification will re-commence (we have been assuming probably today or tomorrow but would appreciate more precision).

Please note that this is important information not only for the Authority but also for the European Commission in order that it may accurately update EU Member States on status.

Many thanks in advance.

Best regards,

Craig
